CUVILLIER EFFORT FAILS; WET-DRY FIGHT ENDS IN LEGISLATURE

Eight Republicans Vote With Democrats to Take Mullan-Gage Repealer Out of Excise Committee and Three Democrats Vote Dry—Motion Is Lost 70 to 74.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, March 13.—Hopes of the repeal of the Mullan-Gage state prohibition enforcement law were dashed when the assembly early this morning, refused by a vote of 70 to 74 to discharge the excise committee from further consideration of the Cuvillier repeal measures.

Party lines were split. Eight Republicans voted with a majority of the Democrats to report out the bills, while three Democrats voted in the negative.

This probably means the end of the wet and dry fight for the present session, unless something should develop unexpectedly in the senate.

A bill offered by Senator Dunnigan, Democrat, of New York, on the first day of the session, is still locked in the judiciary committee of the upper house and is likely to remain there, according to all reports.

Republicans who voted wet in the lower house were: Griffith and Murphy, of Monroe; Seelbach, of Erie; Ricea, of Kings; and Ullman, Steinberg, Jesse and Kaufmann of New York.

The three Democrats who voted dry were: Cross, of Sullivan; Kahler, of Chemung; and Livingston of Columbia.

REINFORCEMENTS GO INTO RUHR TWO SUPREME COURT JUDGMENTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, March 13.—While France and Belgium have announced the conditions upon which they will evacuate the Ruhr and Rhineland, both countries today are continuing preparations for a long stay in the occupied zones.

Both will send reinforcements into the Ruhr as well as replacement troops. Premier Poincaré was on his way back to Paris from Brussels today after the most important conference that has taken place since the French and Belgian troops entered the Ruhr. It is expected the cabinet will quickly approve the decisions at Brussels.

While France and Belgium agreed to leave the Ruhr and Rhineland automatically and proportionately as Germany pays indemnity, it must of necessity be a long time before the troops could depart as Germany must pay $1,537,000,000 on priority claims before the soldiers return.

Approximately 25,000 additional troops will be sent into the occupied zones to assist the forces already there in expediting delivery of surplus coal into France and Belgium.

12-YEAR-OLD GIRL HELD AS BOOTLEGGER

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 13.—Genevieve Becker, 12 years old, is held for bootlegging today.

Daniel Callahan charged the girl with selling a bottle of whiskey to his 17-year-old daughter, Frances. Genevieve was arrested and placed in the care of the children's society. Her mother and Anthony Earl, a roomer, also were arrested on a charge of violating the prohibition law.

Goes Suddenly Blind.

With his sight gone, at least temporarily, Benjamin Sherow, 14 years old, is seriously ill at his home in Wappingers Falls suffering from a malady which has baffled the efforts of physicians to check or diagnose. While walking along the village street Saturday the boy was suddenly stricken and pedestrians were startled to hear him cry: "Help me, help me. I can't see." He was taken to his home and a physician summoned.

Day Remains Unchanged.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 13.—The condition of Dr. James Roscoe Day, chancellor emeritus of Syracuse University, who has been unconscious for almost the past 48 hours as a result of the culmination of an attack of bronchial pneumonia, remained unchanged early today, according to a bulletin issued by attending physicians. Physicians are not hopeful if the chancellor's recovery.

Poughkeepsie Post Office.

The Poughkeepsie Evening Star says that Congressman Fish is endeavoring to get an appropriation for a new post-office building in Poughkeepsie on some other site than where the present building stands at Market and Union streets.

Barton Has Brother Here.

President Golfs While Crew Gets Pioneer Out of Florida Mud Banks

Lauderdale Entertaining Party—Hard Luck Replaces Hard-Luck As Trip Is Begun Down Narrow, Shallow Canal From Palm Beach.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., March 13.—After being stuck in the mud intermittently over a period of some twenty-four hours, the presidential houseboat Pioneer, bearing the president and Mrs. Harding, was floated this morning at high tide and the journey toward Miami was resumed at a snail's pace.

Hard luck instead of "Harding luck" has camped persistently on the Pioneer's trail ever since leaving Palm Beach.

The boat had gotten out of one mudbank only to stick her nose into another all the way down the canal, and even when clear of the clinging bottom, the Pioneer has been unable to make but a few miles an hour. The mud scrapes her bottom and the tropical foliage on either side scrapes her sides and top deck.

Life aboard has been anything but idyllic since leaving Palm Beach, according to members of the party. The Pioneer was doated about eight miles above Fort Lauderdale this morning, and the citizens of this section have thus been enabled to have the president in their midst for a longer period than has any other community along the east coast. They are consequently in high spirits.

Two years ago, on a similar presidential cruise, the Fort Lauderdale folks were accused by rival municipalities, of having thrown a dredge across the channel to compel the chief executive to stop and accept their hospitality.

Whether the accusation was merited or not has been a subject of acrimonious dispute for two years. "We didn't have to this year, anyhow," said a leading member of the chamber of commerce today. "This year the tide and the mud helped us out."

Even a tow has been unable to keep the Pioneer free of the muddy obstructions of the channel. The U. S. S. Tarzan, carrying secret service operatives, has been pressed into service on the journey down stream to pull the heavier Pioneer along. On one occasion, the tow rope tangled in the rudder of the Tarzan and Captain Packard, skipper of the latter craft leapt overboard, full clothed, to cut her loose. A private moving picture machine, operated by Mrs. E. B. McLean, wife of the Washington publisher, has preserved a faithful history of the battle of the mud flats, including the skipper's dive into the murky waters of the canal.

It was problematical today when the president would reach Miami and the end of his natural vacation cruise from the waters of northern Florida. If favored by tide and mud, the boat should pull into Florida's southernmost resort by Wednesday morning, but those aboard the Pioneer were none too sanguine. Meantime the president escaped the boredom of the battle with the mud by golfing. A second golf engagement over the Fort Lauderdale links, or a journey further down the channel to Hollywood, was in prospect today.

The president is in no particular hurry to reach Miami, so he is unperturbed by the delays incident to the journey. At Miami there was gathered a number of political leaders and others who have designs on the "complete rest" Harding came to Florida to get, and the prospects are that at least part of the stay there will be taken up with engagements and callers.

President Harding read with interest today the speech of James M. Cox, his Democratic opponent in 1920, broadcasted from Miami, in which he predicted that the league of nations would be a paramount issue in the campaign of 1924. He observed, however, the same silence that has characterized his attitude with regard to the speeches of Senators Hiram Johnson and William F. Borah, on international relations within the last week.

NOTARY 42 YEARS; MARRIED 59

A. J. Newkirk of Ellenville, who swore in as a notary public before County Clerk John H. Saxs this morning, probably has held that office longer than any other resident of Ulster county.

Mr. Newkirk, who is 82 years old, has been a notary public for 42 years, which means that 21 times he has traveled from Ellenville to Kingston for the purpose of taking oath as a notary.

He does not look to be more than seventy years old and is extremely active for his years. He has been married 59 years. His wife is living, as also are three sons and three daughters; 23 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. There has been only one death in the family, one grandchild.

Unique Musical Play.

There is being arranged an entertainment to be given at the chapel of the First Reformed Dutch Church on the evenings of Thursday and Friday, by the Society of Christian Endeavor. The entertainment will be a unique musical play entitled "Songs of Other Days." This play will be preceded by a Kinder Symphony.

Transferred Prisoners.

This morning thirteen prisoners under heavy guard passed through Kingston on the way to Napanoch Reformatory. They had been transferred from the prison at Auburn.

ARE WE MORE THAN NEWBURGH?

The Newburgh Daily News says: "Poughkeepsie Star congratulates Kingston on having, as alleged, a population of 33,412, an increase of 3,400 in three years. If the figures are correct, Newburgh probably has been passed by the Colonial City. The Star asserts 'the figures are not open to dispute, for they are based on a recognized system of estimating the allotting of 2 1/2 persons as the equivalent of one name in a carefully compiled city directory.'"

The directory publishers, it may be said, are Price & Lee, who make estimates for Newburgh too. On the basis of computation which gives Kingston almost 33,500 people, Newburgh a year ago was said to have a little short of 40,000, but none of us took the estimate seriously, much as we liked it."

Lenine Suffers Stroke.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Helsinki, March 13.—Nicolai Lenine suffered a stroke of apoplexy on Monday and his condition is most serious, according to reports from Moscow today. The soviet government is said to be issuing bulletins on Lenine's condition.

Still Crossing River.

Today taxicabs were still crossing the Hudson river on the ice. The rainfall has left considerable water on top of the ice fields, but the ice appears to be perfectly safe.

SPECIAL TRAIN FROM AUTO SHOW FRIDAY NIGHT

O. & W. to Operate Train Leaving Kingston 11:30 O'clock P. M., Stopping at All Stations as Far as Ellenville.

Arrangements have been made with the O. & W. railroad to run a special train to leave Kingston Friday night at 11:30 o'clock stopping at all regular stations between Kingston and Ellenville. The regular fare will be charged. In addition to this special train the railroad will operate its usual schedule with trains reaching Kingston at 9:25 a. m., 12:45 p. m., 4:25 p. m., and 8:55 p. m.

The arrangement for the special train Friday night was made through the efforts of the automotive dealers to give the residents of the Rondout valley the opportunity of visiting the auto show that evening.

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF "BEATING" BOARD BILL

Herbert E. Beers and Frederick C. Hahn Give Bail for Appearance.

Herbert E. Beers and Frederick C. Hahn, two young men, were arrested at 9 o'clock this morning in front of the Opera House on Fair street by Sergeant Phinney on a warrant sworn out by former Sheriff Wright J. Smith, charging the young men with defrauding him out of a board bill.

Later in police court the hearing was adjourned to Thursday, and bail fixed at $500 each. The amount of the board bill is $71.50 each. As the young men had already filed a petition in bankruptcy they believed that absolving them from paying the bill until the bankruptcy matter had been disposed of.

OVERCROWDING CAUSED FATAL HOSPITAL FIRE.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, March 13.—Governor Smith transmitted to the legislature today the report of the state hospital commission on the recent fire at the state hospital at Ward's Island. It shows that the primary cause for the loss of life was overcrowding, 89 patients being on a floor intended for 50.

The report calls for the installation of a high pressure salt water fire fighting system and says that the replacing of the old hospital buildings with modern fire proof structures is absolutely necessary.

Governor Smith urged the legislature to give serious consideration to the needs of the hospital as shown in the report.

CHIEF CRUISES REMOVAL SUSTAINED BY COURT.

In a decision handed down last Thursday by the appellate division, the commission of public safety of Hudson is sustained in its removing of John Cruise, Jr., as chief of police. Cruise was removed on charges of neglect of duty with respect to prohibition enforcement. He was appointed a patrolman in 1895 and became chief in 1917.

TEN INCH ICE STOPS TUG AT LIGHT HOUSE

The tug Southwick, which was endeavoring to break up the ice across the river today, only got as far as the light house when it came up against ten inch ice and as a result gave up the attempt. In the creek at some points only three inch ice was encountered. A further attempt to make a channel may be made on Wednesday.

Schaefer Takes First Block.

New York, March 13.—Jake Schaefer, the challenger, will enter the second block tonight of his 1,500 point match with Willie Hoppe, the champion, for the world's 182 back line billiard title, behind a lead of 225 points as the result of playing more consistent billiards in the opening block. Hoppe was a mile off form.

Howe's Body Found.

The body of Barton F. Howe, junior engineer of the U. S. Geological Survey, drowned in the Delaware river near Mill Hill Saturday, March 3, was discovered Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Bannon Company Busy.

The L. P. Bannon Company is installing complete plumbing and domestic vapor heating system in the large double residence being erected at corner Broadway and West Chestnut street by William Wanders.

COURT DECIDES ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE IS POLITICAL COMMITTEE

Troy Taxpayers Win Action to Compel It To Account for Receipts and Expenditures Under Corrupt Practices Act—Judge Staley's Reasons.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, March 13.—The Anti-Saloon League has lost its fight of years to escape accounting to the secretary of state for all its receipts and expenditures under the corrupt practices act.

Supreme Court Justice Ellis J. Staley of Albany today decided that the league was a political committee, subject to all the requirements of the committees of the Republican, Democratic and other political parties, which must file statements with the secretary of state showing all of their receipts and expenditures in election campaigns.

The action to have the league declared a political committee was brought by five Troy citizens who were represented in the trial of the case before Justice Staley by Colonel William H. Gillett, attorney for the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment.

Justice Staley, in his decision declared that the activities of the league in the work of the suppression of the liquor traffic caused it to exert its activities in behalf of candidates for public office "who would use their power and vote to accomplish this purpose and against those who would not."

"Many activities in connection with elections are educational," he said, "but their motive is to effect the result, and to aid or defeat candidates, or propositions, submitted for a decision by the ballot box. When money is received for such purpose, the law requires publicly to disclose its sources and amount and to test the sincerity for the public good of the means and propaganda employed. The law is predicated upon the fundamental truth that publicly will never hurt a good cause and has destroyed many bad ones."

"Order may therefore be entered directing the Anti-Saloon League to file a statement of the appointment of a treasurer, as provided by statute with the secretary of state and directing the Anti-Saloon League of New York, through its treasurer and its respondent officers, members and agents thereof, to file a statement of receipts, expenditures and liabilities, received, made and incurred in connection with the primary election of 1922 and also in connection with the general election of 1922 with $100."

Justice Staley says that a political committee means any committee or combination of three or more persons, cooperating to aid or promote the success or defeat of a political party or principle or of any proposition submitted to vote at a public election or to aid or take part in the election or defeat of a candidate for public office or to aid or take part in the election or defeat of a candidate for nomination at a primary election or convention.

"The purpose of the statute involved in this proceeding is plain: It requires publicity of money received and expended in connection with the activities of a committee having a relation to elections and designed to aid or defeat candidates for public office and proposition submitted to the vote of the electors at a public election."

Justice Staley said that the proof in the action before him conclusively disclosed that the Anti-Saloon League of New York through its officers and employees and at its expense, "by the printing and distribution of publications, bulletins, circulars and letters, by public addresses, made by qualified electors directly referred to the qualifications of candidates for nomination and election and by assistance rendered in the organization and directors of activities of workers at the polls, was a active participant to aid and defeat candidates for public office at the primary and general elections of 1922."

"The legal status of the league," he said, "is raised by the claim of the respondents that it is a corporation and upon the assertion of the petitioners that the proof does not establish it to be such. The New York Anti-Saloon League was incorporated by filing in the office of the secretary of state on the ninth day of February, 1905, a certificate of incorporation under the membership corporation law."

"The certificate declares that the incorporators were 'desirous of associating themselves together as a corporation to form and foster public sentiment by agitation and education against the liquor traffic and to direct that sentiment toward the enactment of laws restricting and suppressing the traffic in intoxicating liquors as a beverage.' The number of directors authorized by the certificate were seven."

"The decision declares that as a corporation, the league is not exempt or immune from being termed a political committee 'when its activities in whole, or in part, come within the definition prescribed by statute for that term.'"

"If it were otherwise, there would be a practical suspension of the law," said Justice Staley, "and its purpose would be nullified by the incorporation of political organizations and clubs and various groups seeking to influence political action, but with the desire to conceal their financial operations carried on in furtherance of that purpose. As a corporation, the league may be a corporate entity, but it is nevertheless, as such, a combination of three or more persons and the receipt in its certificate of incorporation indicates that it is an association of more than three persons."

"The activities of the league established in this proceeding negatives the claim that it comes within the exception contained in the statute or the term 'political committee' and that it is an organization for the discussion and advancement of political questions or principles without connection with any election, for the reason that its activities in relation to the principles for the promotion of which it was incorporated, are disclosed to be most intimately and directly related to the election of candidates for public office which will insure the success of those principles and to the defeat of candidates who are opposed to them."

LIKELY TO APPEAL STALEY DECISION

Senator Brackett and Dr. Burrell III—Anderson Announces New Fund Is Coming In.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, March 13.—William H. Anderson, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, declined to speak with newspaper men either personally or over the telephone when informed of the decision by Justice Staley. He referred all inquiries to his attorney, Senator Edgar T. Brackett.

Just before Anderson was informed of Justice Staley's decision, he issued a typewritten statement to the press which reads as follows: "The friendly fund drive of the Anti-Saloon League to keep the league effectively and permanently independent of the hostile hired men of philanthropic inclined friends of law and order, was opened by the Anti-Saloon League today."

"W. H. Anderson, state superintendent of the league announced that before he had been in his office an hour, a prominent business man called him up on the telephone and subscribed to ten of the twenty-five dollar units which makes a $250 to the fund."

Assistant District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora, in charge of the investigation of the Anti-Saloon League funds laughed when informed of the decision.

"It doesn't surprise me in the least," he said.

Saratoga Springs, Mar. 13.—Senator Brackett, who is confined to his home with illness, said he would not make any comment today on the decision of Supreme Court Justice Staley against the Anti-Saloon League. It is expected, however, that an appeal will be taken.

Madison, N. J., March 13.—Dr. David J. Burrell, president of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, today declined to comment on the decision of Supreme Court Justice Staley.

According to Dr. Burrell's daughter, he was not well enough to talk to newspaper men about anything.

BOMB ATTACK ON ICE IN DELAWARE DELAYED

Problem Is To Blow Up Gorge And Miss Port Jervis.

Bombers had not attacked the ice gorges in the Delaware river up to late Monday night because of the fact that they had not been able to reach Port Jervis with their planes on account of the bad weather conditions. Monday's storm caused a great deal of alarm among residents of the city. It was feared that a rainstorm and rising temperature would result in a flood as a result of the ice gorge.

Government experts who have arrived on the scene said that, although the gorges would be a fairly large target, they would use every precaution possible in the bombing as a slight mistake would wipe out a good portion of the city.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT SCHENECTADY MONDAY.

In Schenectady Monday evening a fire broke out in the New Vendome hotel building at State and Center streets, resulting in a damage estimated between $30,000 and $40,000. Eight stores occupy the building, each being damaged. In the adjoining building patrons of the Strand motion picture theater quickly got to the street when smoke penetrated the play house. The fire started in the basement in one of the stores in the extreme eastern end of the building. Cause of the fire was not established.

SLEEPING SICKNESS GERM IS ISOLATED

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, March 13.—Officials of the United States public health service today confirmed an exclusive International News Service despatch of last Saturday announcing isolation of the germ of the lethargic encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, scientists at Mount Sinai Hospital, New York.

GARDNER'S SHAFT RIGIDLY HELD

Because the 1923 Gardner has a five-bearing crank shaft—a feature found in no other four-cylinder motor—its exceptional speed, power and quick acceleration are possible without a vibration point within its performance range. The Gardner is a car that unites the economy found in four alone, with the smoothness and flexibility usually credited to cars with a greater number of cylinders. This notable improvement is but one of many that insure a long life of trouble-free, dependable operation.

Southard-Beichert, Inc., local Gardner dealers, will show three of the new models, at the auto show, a five-passenger sedan selling at $1,345, a phaeton at $345 and a "Radio Special" at $1,095. The "Radio Special" is a car in which the "snap" and distinctiveness of the true sport car are combined with the known performance, the rugged dependability and sturdiness of construction that so definitely mark other Gardner fours.

Mammals That Lay Eggs.
The duck-billed platypus of Australia is the most curious instance of mammals that lay eggs. The nest is underground, has two entrances, and may contain from one to three eggs. The ant-eating porcupine is another egg-laying creature.

EARLY SPRAY WILL CHECK APPLE APHIDS

Eggs Hatch First Warm Days—Spray Must Reach All Buds.

As the days grow warmer and the buds begin to swell and show green at the tips, the apple aphids begin to hatch out and cluster on the buds, where they begin feeding on the tender green tissues. At this time the insects are much more susceptible to spray applications than a little later when the apple foliage has advanced sufficiently to afford the aphids some protection, says the entomologist at the New York Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva. Three-fourths of a pint of nicotine sulfate added to 100 gallons of spray mixture gives very satisfactory control, says this authority, provided a very thorough application is made.

In the station experiments, adequate control has been obtained only when the spray was applied from the ground and under the trees rather than from the spray rig as is commonly done in New York orchards. This is due to the fact, say the station workers, that the lower buds on the tree and the undersides of the twigs and branches are not thoroughly covered with the spray when it is applied from the top of the spray tank. On the other hand, when spraying is done from the ground and when the operator moves about under the tree so as to insure wetting the underside of every twig and branch, the pests may be completely wiped out.

ORIGINALITIES IN MAXWELL DESIGN

The windshield used in Maxwell closed cars is of original design. Both sections of it swing outward, the upper half being hinged from the top and the lower half from the bottom. The entire assembly is set in a water-tight, rattle proof channel. This is effective in developing the complete control of ventilation.

Maxwell has evidently solved the problem of storing side curtains when not in use. In the touring models a pocket is provided in which the curtains are stored in an upright position. This has come in for many thanks from appreciative motorists.

The water indicator furnished with the Maxwell sport touring and Maxwell sport roadster is insured against loss by theft for one year.

The Maxwell emergency brake delivers equal braking force to each rear wheel. The band is on the transmission shaft and of course must be equally applied to each wheel through the differential.

Two Atlanta, Georgia, girls drove a Maxwell touring car more than 12,000 miles during the past summer on a trip which carried them from Atlanta, to the Pacific northwest, through California, and back to Atlanta via the western route. The girls were unchaperoned save for the presence of a Winchester rifle.

PENNER ADDS LARGE FARM TO COUNTRY PLACE

William Votce has sold his entire farm on the south side of Ashokan boulevard, in the town of Olive, to Joseph S. Penner, of this city. This makes a large addition to the holdings of Mr. Penner who has a large summer camp and outing place there.

Annual Class Meeting.
The annual meeting and social of the Friendship Class of the St. James Church, Dr. Baragwanath, teacher, will be held in the church parlor on Wednesday evening of this week at eight o'clock. A competent committee will furnish the entertainment and refreshments will be served.

KYSERIKE.
Kyserike, March 12.—A large congregation was present at the Allgerville Church on Sunday, the 11th, to hear the fourth of the series of Lenten sermons by the Rev. T. S. Braithwaite. The subject was "The Problem of Evil." Those present had the pleasure of hearing a masterly discourse. The subject for Sunday, the 18th, will be "How Christ Meets the Problem of Evil." All who have heard this series of sermons which have been given were much pleased. They are discourses of much interest. It was a feeling of much pleasure and interest to both the pastor and the congregation to have such a large congregation on Sunday. A most cordial invitation is extended to all to be present to hear the sermon on Sunday, the 18th, at 3 p. m.

A LAXATIVE FOOD

Now you'll like Bran!

Made by Postum Cereal Co., Inc.
Battle Creek, Mich.
Makers of Post Toasties,
Grape-Nuts and Postum

Recipes

Bran Muffins

2 eggs
3 tablespoonfuls sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoonful salt
1 1/2 teaspoonfuls baking powder
1 1/2 cups Post's Flakes
2 tablespoonfuls butter or other fat
3/4 cup milk

Beat eggs and add sugar. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together and add Post's Flakes. Add to egg mixture alternately with milk. Mix well. Add melted butter. Put in greased muffin pans and bake in hot oven about 25 minutes. This makes 9 to 12 muffins.

Bran Breakfast Bread

2 cups sour milk
1 scant 1/2 teaspoonful soda
1 1/2 cups Post's Flakes
4 cups flour
3 teaspoonfuls baking powder
1/2 teaspoonful salt
5 tablespoonfuls molasses
1 egg
3 tablespoonfuls melted shortening

Knead into soft loaf. Let rise one-half hour and bake in moderate oven one-half hour.

SPRING TIME TO SET STRAWBERRIES

Such Plantings Will Bear Next Season—Some Good Varieties.

The best time for setting out the strawberry bed is early spring as soon as the ground can be properly prepared, say the horticulturists at the New York Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva. Spring planting is preferred because weather conditions are usually more favorable for a good start and because plants set in the spring come into bearing the next season, whereas plants set in the fall do not bear the following season but must be carried through two winters before fruiting begins.

Several planting methods are followed by strawberry growers, but the station fruit specialists find that the so-called matted row system requires less labor and usually results in greater yields than any other method of planting. By this method the plants are set in rows from 3 to 4 feet apart with the plants from 18 to 30 inches apart in the row, depending on the variety. The plants are cultivated throughout the summer and fall to keep down weeds and to maintain a mellow soil.

While the choice of varieties depends largely upon local conditions, the station authorities recommend among others Beacon, Beder Wood, Dunlap, Howard No. 17, and Ozark for early varieties; Abington, Barrymore, Bliss, Boquet, Chesapeake, and Joe for mid-season varieties; and Brandywine, Gandy, Jessie, Lake Stevens, Parker, Earle, Sample, and William Belt for late varieties.

A NEW FRUIT BOOK.

Pears of New York Just Off Press—Many Color Plates.

Dr. U. P. Hedrick, horticulturist of the New York Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva, and his associates, G. H. Howe, O. M. Taylor, E. H. Francis, and H. B. Tukey, are the authors of a new fruit book. The Pears of New York, the sixth of the series of fruit books issued by the station. The new book contains much of interest to fruit growers in general. The principal object of the book is to straighten out the names of pear varieties, but chapters on the history of the pear from the first records down to the present and on pear growing in America, particularly in New York, make the volume of more than ordinary interest.

Descriptions of ninety-one major varieties occupy the bulk of the more than six hundred pages of the volume, and of this number eighty are illustrated with full-page, four-color plates.

Wiltwyck Cemetery Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Wiltwyck Rural Cemetery Association will be held on April 2, at 11 a. m., for the election of three trustees in place of George Burgevin, Everett Fowler and Dr. E. H. Loughran whose term of office will then expire. The polls will be open from 11 to 12 o'clock.

TAVANO EVIDENCE TO GRAND JURY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, March 13.—Evidence was presented to the Albany county grand jury this afternoon by Assistant District Attorney Wanger in the hope of securing a speedy indictment of Angelina Tavano, 19, on a charge of kidnapping three-year-old Leopold Minkla of this city.

The girl was arrested with the child in Newburgh last Saturday after she had been missing for three days.

Judge and Mrs. Minkla, parents of the kidnapped baby, Police Chief Lauch and several detectives testified before the grand jury. It is believed an indictment will be handed down early next week.

When arraigned in police court this afternoon, the Tavano girl, through counsel, waived for the grand jury. She was remanded to jail.

Police are convinced the girl is not a drug addict, as she claims, and that she was not "doped" when she took the child.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, March 13.—The stock market opened strong today. The sugar issues were in good demand, especially Punta Alegre who rose over 2 points. American Locomotive made up the dividend of 1½¢ which it sold at the opening, while Baldwin Locomotive advanced nearly 1 point. U. S. Steel was unchanged at 107½, while fractional gains were made in the other steels. New York Central led the railroads, advancing nearly 1 point at 97.

The strength in the raw sugar market made the sugar group the feature of the early trading, these stocks being in continued demand and making further advances. The motor and tire stocks were also in increased demand. Railway stocks were prominent.

Seventeen employees of the Cornell Steamboat Company shops were laid off last Saturday night for an indefinite period. There is not nearly as much work to be done at the shops now as there was in the early part of the season as the repair work on the various tugs is very nearly completed.

SAUGERTIES WATER
TOWER COLLAPSED

On Saturday afternoon houses in the vicinity of the Martin Cantine factory, Saugerties, shook and there was a great roaring noise, which might have been recorded as a slight earthquake as far as the villagers were concerned. The large water tower of the Martin Cantine Company suddenly collapsed and was the cause of the tremors.

The tower rested upon a steel frame near the loading entrance of the factory, and a heavy coating of thick ice clustered about it forming icicles, the heavy weight of which assisted in bringing about its crash. The tower slid down the incline south of the factory and crumpled into a complete wreck.

The destruction of the tower which had a capacity of 23,000 gallons is a big loss to the Cantine Company. The tower was about half full of water. Howard Van Buskirk, driver of one of the Cantine trucks, had just left the spot before the crash came.

P. H. S. Turns Tables.

Poughkeepsie High School defeated the Raymond Rjordson basketball team decisively on the Poughkeepsie court Saturday afternoon by the score of 41-20. Raymond Rjordson defeated Poughkeepsie by a forfeit on the Raymond Rjordson court about a week ago when Kallech took his team from the floor thus giving the game to Raymond Rjordson by the forfeit score of 2-0.

TUG SOUTHWICK
BREAKING ICE

This afternoon the tug Southwick of the Cornell has started the work of breaking a channel through the ice fields across the Hudson river for the ferry Transport. Shortly after 1 o'clock the tug had gotten as far as the light house at the mouth of the Rondout creek. The river ice is fully a foot thick but the warm weather and rain has softened the ice considerably. If the tug is able to break a channel through the ice fields the Transport will again resume trips after being laid up for several weeks.

Raid at Highland Falls.

Five Federal prohibition officers raided the Storm King Hotel at Highland Falls over the week-end, seized a quantity of alleged liquor, and arrested the proprietor, Charles Benatzky. Benatzky was released in $1,000 bail by a justice of the peace to await arraignment before United States Commissioner Hitchcock in New York city. The raid was the outcome of complaints made by the authorities at West Point.

Howitzers Win.

Toby Matthews's Howitzers of Catskill defeated the Troy Independents, composed of State League stars from the Capitol District, last Saturday night at Catskill by a 19-17 score. Toby Matthews put in the winning basket from way back of the center of the court.

CONTRACTS FOR CHURCH ADDITION

Delbert Griffin to Do Carpenter Work on Big First Presbyterian Job and Thomas Kennedy the Mason Work.

Contracts for the mason and carpenter work for the erection of the addition to the First Presbyterian Church, corner of Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue, have been awarded by Charles Ramsey, who is donating this part of the construction work. The contract for the carpenter work has been awarded to Delbert Griffin and the contract for the mason work to Thomas Kennedy of Escopus.

Some time ago Mr. Ramsey stated that he would provide the funds for the carpenter and mason work for the erection of an addition to the Sunday school room or community house of the church, and plans were prepared by Architect Bez. The plans call for a two story and basement building. In the basement there will be a large dining room and kitchen. An assembly room, parlor for the ladies, Sunday school room for beginners and for the primary grade and kitchenette will occupy the ground floor. On the second floor will be the class rooms and the large Sunday school room with a capacity of about 400.

When completed this Sunday school or community house as it may be called, will be the most complete of its kind in the city. Construction work will be started as soon as weather conditions will permit and the contracts for the remainder of the work will be let within a short time.

YACHT CLUB IS BEING DISBANDED

Kingston Yacht Club Will Sell Its Club House on Abel Street on March 17 at Public Auction—Lack of Interest Caused Club to Disband.

Due to the falling off in membership and lack of interest the Kingston Yacht Club of this city is being disbanded. The club will sell its club house on Abel street at public auction on Saturday afternoon, March 17, at 2:30 o'clock at the club house.

The Kingston Yacht Club during the early years of its existence had a large membership and was very active in yachting matters in this vicinity. Of late years since the advent of the automobile interest in boating has dropped off to a very large extent.

The one who purchases the building at the public auction under the terms of the sale must remove it from the premises. There is considerable first class lumber in the building, and it should bring a fair price.

A. H. Penfield, cashier of the Springfield National Bank, of Springfield, Ohio, twice attempted suicide following the closing of the bank. Federal investigators are endeavoring to trace $500,000 worth of Liberty Bonds, owned by the bank, that are missing. It is believed they were used as collateral in stock dealings in Cincinnati and Cleveland. Penfield was found in his garage, partly asphyxiated, and with both wrists slashed.

HEAVY STORM DAMAGE REPORTED IN KANSAS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Kansas City, Mo., March 13.—Heavy telephone and telegraph damage was reported in this section of Missouri and Kansas today. Snow followed the heavy wind and and minimum of Sunday.

More than 1,500 poles have been broken down in northeastern Kansas, according to estimates today of the southwestern Bell Telephone Company. The Western Union Telegraph Company reports 100 poles down between here and Topeka.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

NICK'S SECOND VISIT

Once before Nick had been allowed to visit an air mechanic school. When Nick grew up he wanted to be allowed to go up in the air for flying had always seemed to him quite thrilling. Daddy had said that if flying were perfectly, and absolutely safe, then he would let Nick go up if Nick promised him he would never get into an airplane until Daddy gave him his permission.

And Nick was a good sport and gave Daddy his promise and, of course, Nick was too good a sport to ever think of breaking his promise.

Once as a treat Daddy had taken Nick to an air school. And now Daddy had told him that once again they could pay it a visit. For Nick wanted again to see the different shops where the men were learning all parts of an airplane—Nick had never imagined there were so many parts!

And how much there was to be learned about those airplanes, too.

Nick was also interested in seeing all the sports the men who were taking these courses had.

The head of the school told Nick that a man made a far better flyer who was a good mechanic and who understood machinery, and Nick believed him, of course, but it did seem a big job to think of learning so much.

But Nick looked all about. He saw the men learning to make airplanes and balloons. And after they had finished making them they had to take them to pieces again so that they would thoroughly know every screw and piece of wood which went to make up the whole.

Nick walked with Daddy through the great shops where many small furnaces were blazing forth; with men before each one. Here they were making instruments, for they learned to make every instrument they used.

Then they saw the men who were doing mechanical drawing. There were dark rooms where they were developing and printing pictures for they did photography, too. They even wrote and printed many of their own textbooks.

There was a room which had in it quantities of watches and clocks and speedometers. They were taking them to pieces and repairing them and studying them so they would understand them and their machinery and workings perfectly, and this, to Nick, seemed perfectly fascinating.

In other rooms the men were learning the names of every part of every kind of machinery which in any way had to do with aviation and they were reciting these names and writing them down.

But always Nick saw that everyone looked interested in his studying. They were always so attentive and seemed so eager and keen and interested. It was the same in the great shops as it was where they were studying, in the buildings where the many fires were burning to those rooms where men were bending over the small works of watches.

And the men to whom Nick talked said there was so much romance and adventure about the air and yet there was so much fascination about machinery and that it was so nice to know the machinery of an airplane that these courses were no end of fun.

So Nick went home with Daddy thinking of forges and of great ships flying through the air, of shops filled with so many curious parts of machinery.

"You know, Daddy," he said, "it seems so wonderful to me to think of how many little bits of things have to be known to make almost any one thing perfect—a watch, an airplane, even a kitchen stove!"

"But I do believe when I grow up I'll study machinery, and especially the machinery of airplanes."

"Yes, I believe I'll do that rather than be a politician or a farmer or a captain on a ship."

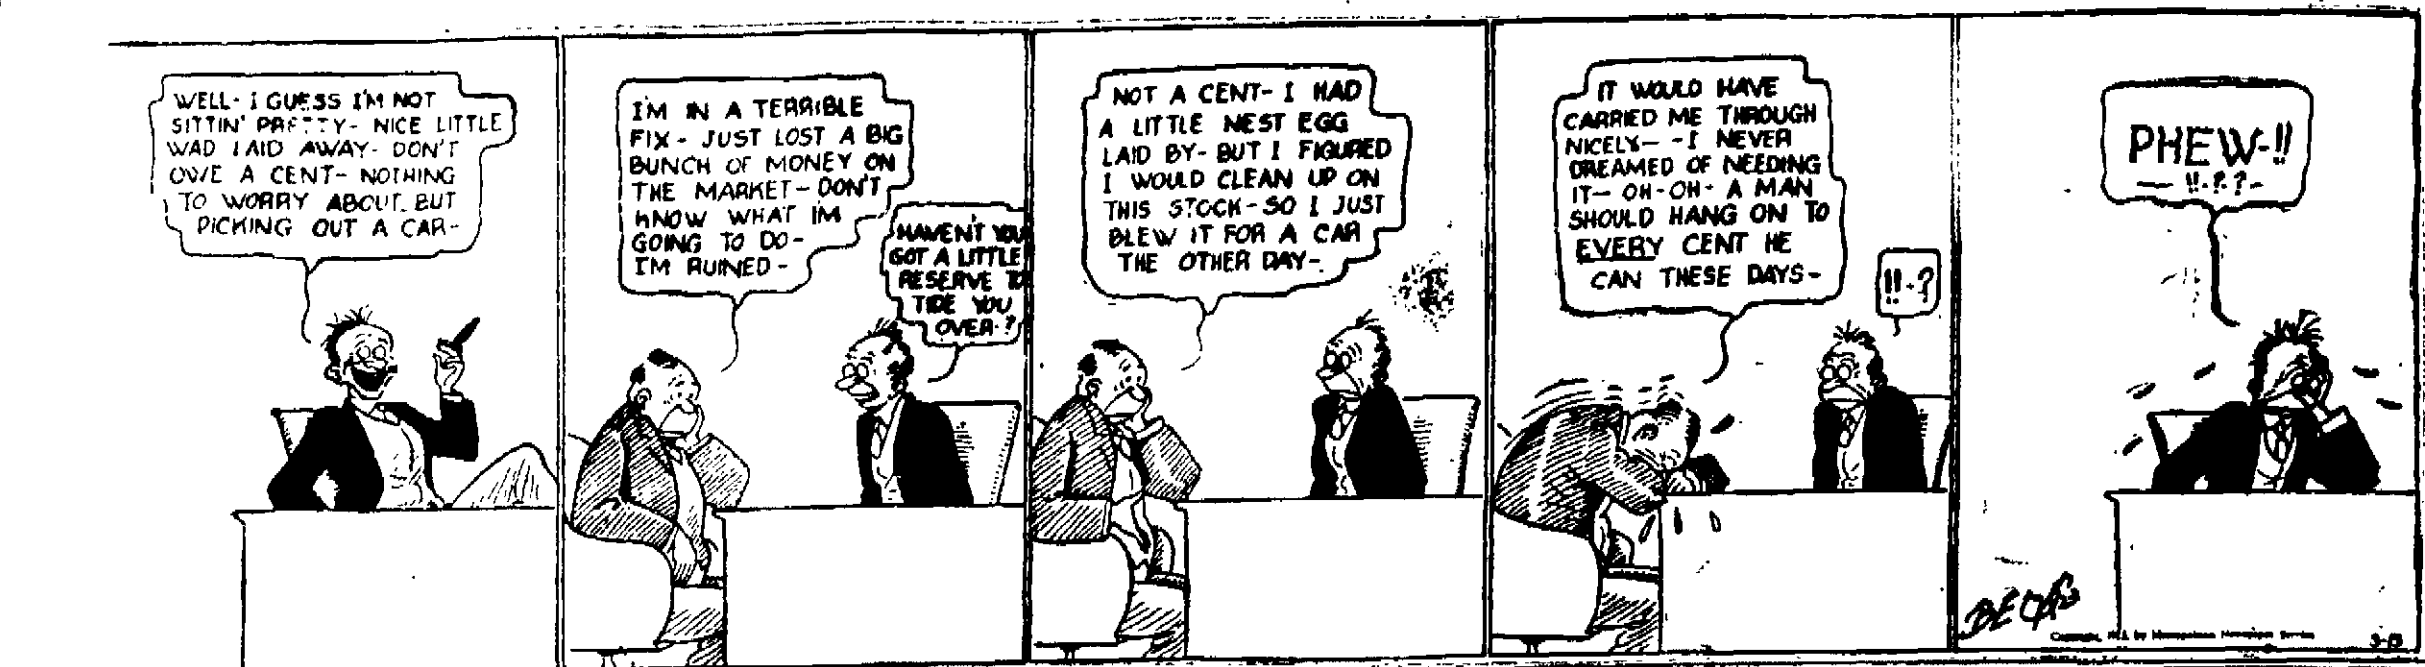

"Perhaps, though, I'd rather be a circus performer than anything—oh dear, it is hard to choose! I think that I'll choose the machinery of airplanes, though."

"Yes, I think that will be my choice, though I suppose I don't have to make up my mind just yet, do I, Daddy?"

"Not just yet," Daddy answered. "You've a little time left before you need to decide."

But anyway Nick had thoroughly enjoyed every moment in the big shops where the men learned the machinery of airplanes, and so he wanted you to hear about it.

GAS BUGGIES—It's Enough to Discourage Any Man

THE KITCHEN CABINET

The test of friendship is its fidelity when every charm of fortune and environment has been swept away, and the bare, undraped character alone remains: it love still holds steadfast, and the joy of companionship survives in such an hour, the fellowship becomes a beautiful prophecy of immortality.

RAISINS AND FIGS

There is something yet in store for the person who has never eaten a ripe fig picked fresh from the tree or preserved or pickled when just in the proper stage of ripeness.

Fig Dessert.—Mix one cupful of fresh fig jam with two cupfuls of stewed rhubarb. Line a buttered baking dish with slices of buttered bread, pour over the fig and rhubarb, cover with a light custard, using a cupful of milk, an egg and a very little sugar. Bake until the custard is firm. Cover with a meringue and brown in a medium oven.

Delan Raisin Pudding.—There are raisins and raisins, but the meaty, rich, flowerlike, flavored raisin which is grown and cured under the skies of southern California is a fruit of which one never tires.

Mix four tablespoonfuls of cornstarch with four tablespoonfuls of brown sugar and four tablespoonfuls of cold water to a smooth paste. Heat two and one-half cupfuls of milk in a double boiler and stir gradually into the cornstarch mixture; cook until smooth and thick. Add three-fourths of a cupful of seedless raisins and cook thirty minutes. Remove from the fire and stir in four tablespoonfuls of broken nut meats, one teaspoonful of vanilla extract and one-half teaspoonful of lemon extract. Pour into a mold and chill. Serve with an orange custard.

Fresno Raisin Pie.—Pour one and one-half cupfuls of boiling water over two cupfuls of seeded raisins and cook five minutes. Mix one-half cupful of sugar, two teaspoonfuls of cornstarch, a pinch of salt; stir into the raisin mixture and cook until thick. Add one tablespoonful each of orange and lemon rind, four tablespoonfuls of orange juice, one-half cupful of broken walnut meats and a tablespoonful of butter. Pour into a pastry-lined pie plate, cover with pastry and bake in a moderate oven forty minutes.

Nellie Maxwell

Opportune Moment.
The children were going to bed and the woman and the children's mother sat in an adjoining room talking while the disrobing, bathing and toothbrushing were in progress. Suddenly a gust of angry words, whisperings and scufflings suggested that the already mentioned disrobing was not proceeding as amicably as might be hoped. The woman and the mother paused to listen. Then the voice of Jean, aged five, rose in just wrath. "You're a naughty, bad boy, Billy, and if you don't stop that right away I'm going to tell God on you in just a minute." It is to be supposed that prayers were next in order and that the presence of the Almighty was imminent.—New York Sun.

Alarm Bell for Boiling Milk.
The "lactabell" is a device that rings an alarm when the milk is boiling. The instrument comprises an ordinary bell gong fitted at the top of a tube containing a fusible composition that melts at a temperature equal to the scalding point of milk, or about 154 degrees Fahrenheit. The tube is placed in a saucepan containing cold milk, being hung on the inside of the rim by means of a pair of hooks and the saucepan is then placed on the fire. As soon as the milk reaches scalding point the fusible composition softens and allows a ratchet wheel to move. A strong spring then draws the striker, causing it to strike the gong sharply and warn the housewife to remove the saucepan.

Some Satisfaction.
"Don't worry," said Uncle Eben. "If you get imposed on for being kindhearted. De chances are dat you feels a heap mo' comfortable in yoh own conscience dan de man wot done you de meanness."—Washington Star.

Giraffes Post Guards.
Giraffes are not easily taken by surprise, as two or three of their number always stand sentinel while the others feed.

ROSENDALE.

Rosendale, March 12.—Mrs. Elsie Myers Pultz of Kingston, who preaches every Sunday in the Baptist Church, was entertained at the home of Miss Caroline G. Anderson the past Sunday.

Frederick Ferio left this village the past week and returned to New York city, where he will make his future home.

Warren Sammons, who has been confined to his home a few days with an attack of lumbago, has so far recovered as to be able to be at his place of business.

Miss Fannie Ten Hagen, who spent the past week with relatives in Poughkeepsie, returned home on Monday.

Several buildings in this vicinity collapsed the past week owing to the heavy snow on the roofs.

The Friday evening service of All Saints' Episcopal Church is held at the home of Dr. C. V. Hasbrouck during Lent.

James McCafferty went to Staten Island on Friday to visit his brother Hugh and family a few days. His brother is not enjoying very good health at present.

The local coal dealers have had another consignment of coal again this week, which is very good news to their many customers in this village.

James F. Brown, who has been confined to his home on James street several weeks with a sprained ankle, was able to be at his place of business on Main street a few days the past week.

Little Miss Edith Dewitt celebrated her sixth birthday on Wednesday last by entertaining a few of her little friends. The little folks played games and during the afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

Miss Edith was the recipient of a number of birthday presents. The little folks departed for their homes at 6 p. m. wishing Miss Edith a birthday every week.

Miss Kate Smith of Kingston spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Mary Smith, in this village. Lou Conklin, who has accepted a position with a show company for the coming season, left on Monday to begin his work.

Mrs. John Oilly, who has been confined to her home the past week with an attack of gastritis and under the care of Dr. C. V. Hasbrouck, is very much improved at this writing. Mrs. Charles Ten Hagen spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. J. A. Lay, at Kingston.

Mrs. Howard Stearns, Mrs. Edith Paradies and Mrs. Allan Mackenzie visited Kingston on Thursday. Jacob Steele began his work as manager at the Mark M. Konaki factory on Monday last. Mr. Steele was manager there before going to Kingston and the operators were glad to have him return. Mrs. Joseph Mooney of the "Valley Farm," Maple Hill, called on friends in this village on Friday afternoon.

The 5 Bearing Crankshaft

A Notable Improvement In Four-Cylinder Design

The crankshaft in your car is the heart of the engine—upon which economy, durability and the smooth, quiet transmission of power largely depend.

In building a five-bearing crankshaft into the 1923 Gardner, the engineers of the Gardner Motor Company have adopted a principle new to four-cylinder construction, but tested and proved in many of the highest priced cars of more cylinders.

Because of this improvement in design the Gardner accelerates easily from a start to its highest speed without the vibration that impairs the service and shortens the life of so many cars. It fears no hill that any standard car will climb. Yet it combines with this performance the economy found in Fours alone.

The one-year written guarantee of the Gardner is a guarantee of balanced value. Let us demonstrate this; the story is best told on the road.

WILTWYCK ROSE REMINISCENCES

Copies of the Fair Journal issued by Wiltwyck Rose Company, daily while the company was holding a fair at Fireman's Hall, Fair street, on October 26, 27, 28, 29 and November 3, 1897, which are owned by Cornelius Hume a member of the company, contain much of interest to the older citizens of Kingston. The five copies contain advertising data that show that many changes have taken place here since a quarter of a century ago. The front page advertisers were the Hauck Brewing Company, the J. Hoffman Brewing Company that have gone out of the brewing of lager beer, and there is an advertisement of the St. Nicholas Hotel, at Broadway and Field Court, under the management of Luke R. Ford that has been a thing of the past for a long time. Other advertisers on the front page were Preston & Fitch, real estate and insurance, on Fair street, forgotten now by many, the Mr. Fitch of the firm being Ezra Fitch now president of the Abecrombie-Fitch, Inc., a million dollar concern dealing in sporting goods in New York city. William T. Van Buren who had a meat market on Wall street, near Pearl street, has died but went out of business long ago. Charles A. Schermerhorn, clothier, and Styles & Kierstead book-sellers, were advertisers, but the business of S. Cohen, Fred Gallagher, L. S. Winne & Company and Ten Broeck's drug store is still in existence. Fourth page advertisers were Mortimer C. Drake, dry goods at 314 Wall street, M. J. Madden, importer of whiskeys, Broadway and Mill street; M. E. Murphy, livery stable; Samuel L. Drake, stationer; F. S. Betts, dentist; VanEtten & Hogan, expressmen; Winfield & Barlow, stock brokers; W. F. Holmes, dentist; John M. Mayer, maker of carriages, wagons and trucks; Grove Webster, livery; C. B. Safford, jeweler; Eltinge & Schoonmaker, paints, oils, chemicals on Wall street; Edward T. Stelle, shoes; and Herbert Carl, dry goods at 37 North Front street, were advertisers on the fourth page.

Advertisers on the inside pages were the National banks and the savings banks of Kingston. John Dorsey had a tontorial parlor at 41 John street, and Brooks & Wells conducted the "Tontorial shop" at 302½ Wall street. Rightmeyer's restaurant where one could get a regular dinner for 25 cents was at 316 Wall street. Other advertisers were E. Winter, pianos; J. V. Burgevin, florist and landscape gardener, Broadway near cigar factory; A. L. Hill, dentist; George B. Stries, jeweler; W. U. Mason, baking powder; William H. Whitney, clothier; Stephen Abbey & Sons, grain and flour; Howard Myer, Rod and Reel cigars; Jerome Palen, coal and lumber; W. H. Rider, pianos; Charles S. Wood, shoes and hats; Grand Union Tea Company; Louis Sampson, clothier; Charles T. Coutant, real estate; E. G. Lawrence, dry goods; Dr. Meinhardt, dentist; Noah Wolven, Centimeter gloves; C. V. L. Pitts & Son, watchmakers, opticians and jewelers; J. DuBois, Favorite cough syrup; John Livingston, shoes, 51 North Front street; William J. Beardsley, architect.

The Fair Journal contained many notes about the booths and the workers at the fair besides much of interest about the company dating back to when the late General George H. Sharpe was chief engineer of the fire department of the village, with reminiscences recalling the principal fires from 1861 to the date of the fair. John B. Rafferty was the manager of the Fair Journal. William S. Eltinge, assistant manager; Aaron Cohen, editor; John O'Shea, Charles Mills, E. E. Becker, John M. Mayer, Jr., associate editors.

From the reminiscences it is gleaned that the company was organized September 3, 1860, and Alfred Tanner of Pine street is the only charter member living today. It was incorporated December 10, 1878, and surviving members of the committee on incorporation are Maj. Al Tanner, W. Scott Gillespie and James Oliver, Jr., of Yonkers. The record of duty of members shows that the first fire the company attended was on June 13, 1861, being that of a barn of Edgar Hoffman on North Front street near Green street. In that year Wiltwyck Rose Co. attended four fires, four false alarms and two funerals. On June 7, that year the company made its first parade in uniform, "when the company unreeled 200 feet of hose in 12 seconds and broke its carriage." On August 2, 1861, at 4 a. m. they assisted to receive the 20th Regiment returning from a three months' service in the Civil War. The record states that on July 4, 1863, the company went on an excursion to Peekskill by steamboat from Rondout, and George H. Hough, tailoring, a member, fell from the boat and was drowned.

The company won a silver trumpet at Peekskill that day being the first prize for running 900 feet in 38½ seconds, beating Rapid Hose of Rondout and Washington and Columbian Hose Companies of Peekskill. In 1862 there were eight false alarms and eight fires, the largest being Gilead A. Smith's barn on Wall street, near Pearl, it having been struck by lightning. It occurred on August 21, at 3 p. m., and the volunteer firemen were three hours and thirty minutes out on duty. In 1864, beside turning out on February 17, to receive the 20th Regiment on its return from the war, the "boys" were called out to nine false alarms and six fires. Baldwin's storehouse in Rondout burned on June 12, 1864, and Ludlum's barn on August 3. The destruction of 11 houses called the firemen to Rondout on April 25, 1865, and a half dozen other fires occurred that year among them being the Romeryn building on Wall street next to the court house which was on October 17. On June 9, 1865, at 7:30 a. m., the company turned out to escort the 120th Regiment from Rondout, home from the war. Seven hours of hard duty on a cold night when the firemen's clothing froze stiff to their bodies, was what the company's record shows for February 5, 1866. The fire destroyed George Cook's hotel and other buildings on Bridge street, now Washington avenue, where Taylor street intersects. On October 2, 1866 the Ulster County House and barns on Wall street, between the court house and the Harrison Sudan property, the spot being about where the Kingston Savings Bank and the Mrs. Van Leuven residence stand, and the firemen were on duty eight and a half hours. There had been a fireman's parade that day and the fireman, although fatigued, responded to the alarm that sounded 3:15 p. m. and worked until the fire was out. It may be of interest to those who object to the Volunteer act to know that George Smith's brewery was destroyed by fire on June 17, 1868, and that Jennings' distillery on the Wilbur road was on fire on January 30, 1869.

In the reminiscences it is stated that the date of the annual parade of the fire department in 1869, was October 6. The order of parade as arranged by Chief Engineer William H. Fredenburgh, not proving entirely satisfactory, Wiltwyck Rose and Excelsior Engine Company, No. 4, refused to take part in it, and arranged a separate parade "on their own hook." Wiltwyck's dissatisfaction was that it had not been given the place in the line it had held for nine previous years in the annual parade. A prize of a silver trumpet for winner in a hose race was offered but the Wiltwycks were ruled out on account of disobedience of orders. Hose companies 2 and 4 competed, No. 4 running the 800 feet in 44 seconds and No. 2 in 45 seconds. Later in the day the Wiltwyck ran alone and made the distance in 36 seconds. The board of directors of the village of Kingston laid on the table the request of Chief Engineer Fredenburgh that the officers of Wiltwyck be expelled.

The reminiscences note many fires from then on among them being the Merchants Hotel at the corner of Broadway, (then Union avenue) and St. James street, on February 25, 1878. Eight buildings on North Front street at the head of Fair and Wall streets were burned down on the night of September 4, 1878, the firemen working hard for eight hours. In February, 1879, the horse car stables burned down in Higginsville, and on December 17 the Wynkoop buildings where the Up-to-Date store stands and the Walker building adjoining, now the site of the Forsyth & Davis store were destroyed by fire. The most disastrous fire in Kingston occurred on January 2, 1881, when Military Hall and two adjoining stores were burned on North Front street. The firemen were on duty sixteen hours and Jacob Schoonmaker and Stephen Joy lost their lives being buried under a falling wall. Other fires noted were that of Excelsior engine house and three other buildings on Crown street near North Front street on November 4, 1883, Whitaker's sash and blind factory on Bowery, now Franklin street October 7, 1887, Henry Winne's hotel, Wall street, opposite the court house March 20, 1888, the Slight furniture store on North Front street and Washington avenue and three other buildings were on fire at the same time, and the William Whitaker fire on the Bowery and Furnace street, Henry L. Shultz of Wiltwyck Hose Co. falling in a cleft while working at the fire. One of the most peculiar fires occurred at the St. James M. E. Church parsonage on the night of November 16, 1882, caused by a flash light when Frank DuFion was taking a picture of the interior. The factory and storehouse of the Hudson River Furniture Co., back of Broadway and Pine Grove avenue, was totally destroyed by fire June 14, 1893. The record states that on January 25, 1895, fire broke out in the servants' room in the residence of the late Charles D. Bruyn on Albany avenue, which was put out without much damage. Mr. and Mrs. Bruyn were ill at home with the grippe and Judge Clearwater hurt his leg while rendering help together with neighbors. Shortly after 2 o'clock, on the morning of March 26, 1896, the Cooney fire occurred on Railroad avenue near Broadway. John Cooney's stables, Lundy's livery stable, and the Betts building were completely destroyed while the Max Rice and the Hudson River Furniture Co. buildings facing Broadway were damaged. The Bloom house on Albany avenue at the head of Broadway was badly wrecked by fire on May 14, 1896, the cause being a gasoline stove exploding. Mrs. Bloom was fatally burned during a few days later. On Tuesday, December 15, 1898, fire destroyed the Reynolds building on Wall, North Front and Fair streets, then occupied by Donald, Converse & Maynard as a dry goods store and Pitts' Bazaar and W. Scott Gillespie's grocery were badly damaged by smoke and water. The fire started at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and the firemen worked until late the next morning putting water on the fire.

The above digest of the reminiscences of Wiltwyck Hose Company tells of only the most important fires, as the company attended and took active part in 572 fires from 1861 to January 15, 1907, when fire broke out in Miss Wood's millinery store on North Front street, at noon, while Miss Wood was at lunch, the flames spreading to the S. B. Thins building and soon both structures were wrecked. Jopson, a photographer, who had a studio upstairs over Thins' lost several thousand very valuable negatives.

Fashion's Masterpiece

OUT of all the wondrously lovely new things of Springtime, Fashion has chosen one supreme masterpiece to exalt the mode. It is not a suit—nor yet a frock. It glories not in the trig lines of the tailleur, nor the easy grace of the gown. But it borrows a bit from both to achieve its irresistible charm. Behold! The new Three-Piece-Suit. A suit when you will, a frock when you wish. Anytime convenience with all-time service. Here in every new version of the mode, the Three-Piece-Suit.

THE OFFICE CAT

By Junius

It's a hard world. Your friends won't believe you make as much as you say you do, and the government won't believe you make as little.

Not So Good.

Perfectly Well Meaning Old Lady: "Thank you so much for your song, my dear. It took me back to my childhood days on my father's farm and when I shut my eyes and listened to your singing I seemed to hear the dear old gate creaking in the wind."

Well, just let them rave, then. These chaps whose wives abuse them; For the good Lord gave men To women to amuse them.

His Discovery.

"I thought I needed a new suit," stated skimpily little Mr. Meek. "My wife says I do not need one. Consequently I find I do not."

The gas they give one in the hospitals makes a fellow unconscious. The price one pays for gas at the filling stations makes him the same way.

Another objection we have to the derby hat is that it is coming back.

The new dean of women at the University of Michigan is quoted as saying that it is very easy to manage flappers if you know how. First, you learn how; and by that time they are quiet, middle-aged ladies who are trying to learn how to control other flappers.

The fastest thing on record is opening a window and getting into bed before the cold air strikes you.

Any pessimist will tell you that if you do as you expect to be done by somebody will do you.

Generosity.

The banquet was about over and the gentlemen remaining were trying to make their last little speeches. One who was feeling particularly mellow spoke touchingly of the poor, how fine it would be to give something to them, something that could be easily spared from the luxuries of their own lives and lift a burden from the less fortunate. When he had finished a great cheer arose, and when the echo had died away another brother arose and swayed with emotion, proposed: "Let's give three cheers for the poor!"

Comrades.

Mr. Meant-to has a comrade. And his name is Didn't Do. Have you ever chance to meet them?

Did they ever call on you? These two fellows live together in a house of Never Win. And I'm told that it is haunted by the ghost of Might-Have-Been.

We wish that the man who divided the day into hours had made the lunch hour longer.

Arithmetic: If a man with $10,000 opens a grocery store and does a credit business, how long before he decides that everyone is crooked?

Tut Tut

Old King Tut, the story goes, Centuries back turned up his toes. He was wrapped up and put away. Expecting to rest 'til Judgment Day.

They wound him tight with silk we're told. And over this, a case of gold. They hid him in a hand made cave. With all the things he wanted to save.

Golden chariots with onyx wheels. Silken slippers without any heels. Tapestry rarest in the land. Golden rings on either hand.

Ivory coaches set with gems. Purple robes with jeweled hems. Crowns with diamonds flashing bright.

They certainly packed him away all right. Pictures too, of quaint design. With a gallon or two of rarest wine. Jars of ointment, odd and rare. Likely intended for dressing his hair.

Canned beef embalmed, packed up tight. If Tut should wake up and want a bite.

A pair of ducks, roasted brown. By the best chef they had in town. They dug him up the other day. Expecting to carry him right away. They certainly would and started—but

Egyptians rushed up and said, "Tut, Tut."

So they covered him up and let him lie. Right on the spot he happened to die. Thus ends the story of Tut-ankh-amen.

Until they dig up the old boy again. W. C. K.

29 KILLED IN SOUTHERN STORM

Twenty in Tennessee and Nine in Kentucky—Seventy-Five Hurt and Property Loss is Large.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Jackson, Tenn., March 13.—Twenty dead are lying in the morgue here today and at least forty seriously injured have been taken to hospitals, victims of a storm which swept away the residential section of Pinson and crashed the little town of Deanburg, near here.

Many of the injured are in a critical condition. Further deaths are feared.

Atlanta, Ga., March 13.—Today the real facts regarding the terrible wind storm which struck the south-east Sunday night, broken to trickle in the outside world, as wire repairs were made and communication restored. From Jackson, Tenn., came confirmation of reports that twenty persons had been killed when the tornado wrecked Pinson and spread destruction about it. The number of injured however, now is placed at less than seventy-five.

Louisville, Ky., March 13.—Nine persons were killed in Kentucky in the severe hail and wind storm which swept the country. A list of the dead compiled today revealed. Property damage throughout the state was heavy. Crippled telegraph and telephone communications were being restored this morning.

Patronage Minus the Pay.

Except for the porters, no man in Algiers leads a very strenuous existence, according to a writer in the World Traveler. The favorite gathering place for men is the coffee house, the original cafe. The ordinary recreations of the Algerian native are talking, smoking and coffee drinking. As it is so long between drinks, we wonder what there is in it for the proprietor. Only the regularity of his clients' patronage makes it worth while. The keeper never seems to be doing anything for the good of the house except to hire a water pipe for a farthing. He smokes, reads the Arabic Daily News, or whatever they call it, to his illiterate audience, or plays a game of checkers or dominoes with his customers. Occasionally he fills the queer little brass cups from the brass pot on the charcoal heater. The coffee is black, strong and sweet, and we do not rave over our first taste, but after a few attempts we develop a faint liking for it.

Cheap and Amusing Cure.

The cheapest and most amusing way to treat sweaty feet is to wade in sea water. The man, woman or child afflicted with them must wade in the surf regularly, as regularly as he says his prayers. But because, for some, this wouldn't be often enough, we will say, as regularly as one eats. Wading in the salt water and allowing the feet to dry in the sun marks treatment No. 1. To those in inland cities, we recommend the neighboring drug store instead of the commutation ticket to Atlantic City. The druggist will sell you all the sea salt, or rock salt, that you care to buy. A handful of the salt in a bucket of hot water, bathed daily, finishing with a cold spray, will have good effect. There are those who favor alum, and others epsom salts, or boric acid, using in same proportion as the rock salt.—M. V. Simko in the Health Builder.

There You Have It.

"Mr. Bradley is certainly well read," said Jane. "He must memorize familiar quotations. At any rate he repeated an exquisite one last night." "What was it?" inquired Juliet with interest. "Why, I can't give you the exact words," responded Jane, "but he said he'd rather be a something in a something than a something in something else."

Curious Foreign Customs.

Harsh in Their Judgment

By MYRA CURTIS LANE
(C. 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

Grandfather had farmed his land for fifty years. He had been frugal and saved enough to retire on. Every Thanksgiving all the family who could assembled at his house.

There was John, the eldest; Milly, who had married the stockbroker—who generally stayed in town—and Edwin, with his daughter Barbara, Grandfather's favorite.

Barbara and Grandfather always took long walks together when she came to the farm, and they were just such friends and confidants as grandfather and granddaughter often are.

Barbara had had a love affair. No body was supposed to mention it to her, because it had turned out unhappily, but Grandfather soon found out all about it as they started along the road toward the woods.

"Oh, don't let's go this way," protested Barbara. "I don't want to see that cross old Mrs. Hayes you're so friendly with."

"Cross, my dear?"

"Well, I don't like the old woman and that nasty house of hers," said Barbara pettishly.

"I'm sure if you knew her you would like her," said Grandfather. "However, each to his taste, my dear. Tell me about John."

"Oh, Grandfather, I'm so unhappy. It's all over for good now, and I shall never, never love again. He behaved so abominably."

"What did he do, Barbara, dear?"

"He—he was carrying on an affair with that Lily Prends I told you about all the time I thought he cared for me," sobbed Barbara.

"But what excuse did he have to offer?"

"He—he said he was trying to break it off and hadn't the courage. What an excuse! Of course, I'll never have anything more to do with him, though he's begged me to. I could never trust him again. And the worst of it is that I can never love anybody again. I'm through with love forever. Do you know I am twenty-five, Grandfather?"

"Not quite a patriarch, my dear."

"Oh, but when you've been through an experience like that it sears you, Grandfather. Everybody knows you can't love after twenty-five."

Grandfather said nothing, and they walked through the leafless woods till they came to Mrs. Hayes' new cottage.

"Are we going in?" asked Barbara.

"I've just got to give Mrs. Hayes a prescription she wanted for her chickens," Grandfather answered.

Barbara remembered how somebody had told her that Grandfather and Mrs. Hayes had been very fond of each other when they were young. Something had come between them.

The withered old woman opened the door. It was impossible to see how anybody could ever have loved Mrs. Hayes; how she could ever have been beautiful. She had thin, white, straggling locks under her cap, she was bent and angular, her voice was a croak and she was the crassest thing Barbara had ever seen.

"You know my granddaughter Barbara."

Mrs. Hayes mumbled something. What a contrast was Grandfather! Fine, tall and rugged, in spite of his two and seventy years.

"I've just come about your ailing chickens, Letty," said Grandfather. "Better let me look at them."

The old woman hobbled off with him. Barbara began to follow them, hesitated, and stopped at the back door. She saw Grandfather give Mrs. Hayes his arm. They went off pecking among the chicken houses. They disappeared, reappeared.

Barbara gave a little gasp. She saw Grandfather stoop and kiss the old woman. She saw Mrs. Hayes' face upturned to his. Then, with his arm about her waist, Grandfather led her back toward the house. He did not remove his arm until he was quite near Barbara.

They walked back through the leafless woods. If Grandfather had spoken Barbara would not have been able to answer him. Something was swelling in her throat, something had touched her so deeply. They were half way home when Grandfather broke the silence.

"You must act as you think best, of course, dear. But you and John are young, and when people are young they are apt to be a little harsh in their judgments. Afterward, sometimes, they regret them."

Grandfather sighed, and there followed a long silence. They were quite near the house when Barbara said: "Grandfather, I'm going to write to John this evening."

Walnut Always Popular.

English or Greenable walnuts are favorite nuts with everybody. The walnut tree came originally from Italy and France, where it has grown for many centuries. The Romans called it "The Nut of Jove," for they thought the fruit was worthy to be set before Jove, their chief god.

The walnut tree was first taken to Britain about five hundred years ago. During the last century there was a great demand for walnut furniture, so a great many trees were cut down and sold. At one time as much as $3,000 was given for a single walnut tree.

The tree grows to a great height and has a very thick trunk covered with gray bark. Its branches are large and spreading; they are sometimes twisted, but the tips of each branch always turn to the sky.

Worth Thinking Over.

Many philosophers lay it down as a self-evident proposition, that no people ought to be free till they are fit to use their freedom. The maxim is worthy of the fool in the old story, who resolved not to go into the water, till he had learned to swim.—Macaulay.

SKIDMORE CHORUS HERE MARCH 23

On Friday evening March 23, the Skidmore College Chorus will give a concert in this city. The concert, which is under the auspices of the Pisma Club of the Kingston High School, is one of a tour that includes a concert at the Plaza Hotel in New York city. On March 20 the chorus will broadcast a program from the General Electric Station in Schenectady, and a concert in Schenectady is also planned for the near future as a part of the Locomotive Club's winter program.

The chorus will be accompanied by the Mandolin Club in this tour. The Mandolin Club will play with the chorus in several numbers and will also play alone.

A Stanley Osborne who is the head of the Department of Music at Skidmore College is the director of the Skidmore Chorus and of the Mandolin Club in this tour.

Last year the Skidmore Chorus gave concerts in Springfield, Massachusetts, Amsterdam and Schenectady. This year the tour is arranged for the Easter recess in accordance with the custom of so many men's college Glee Clubs of going on tours at this time.

The program will include chorus numbers, solos by John De Heck, the faculty soloist, and by Miss Victoria Munn, '25, the student soloist. A special feature of the program and one that is exceedingly interesting and enjoyable is the original compositions by the students of the Department of Music. John De Heck will sing original songs by Miss Miriam Pitts, '23, Miss Helen Whalen, '25, and Miss Margaret Armstrong, '23. Original piano compositions will be played by Miss Miriam Pitts, '23, and Miss Virginia Wallace, '24. The chorus will also sing several of the Skidmore college songs. These songs will be directed by student directors, namely: Miss Dorothy Koerner, '23, Miss Miriam Pitts, '23, Miss Margaret Armstrong, '23, and Miss Virginia Wallace, '24.

Hard to Determine Turtle's Age.
The bureau of fisheries says there is no sure way in which to determine the age of a hard-shell turtle. In most instances the plates are examined closely with a microscope, and on these plates there can be noticed scale expansion. This scale expands as the turtle grows, leaving a ring of growth. These rings are counted the same as those of a tree.

MONDAY NIGHT'S BOWLING SCORES

Monday night the Laco Mills increased their standing in the Mercantile League by taking two out of three games from the Fessenden squad. Rice, now the youngest bowler in the league, made his initial appearance with the curtain men, and celebrated by walking off with high average of 166. He showed some excellent form in his first trial, and his addition to the team makes things look bright for the Laco Mills. Alwardt made high score in the last game, taking down a total of 191 pins in the ten frames, four pins more than his new team-mate's highest score.

The scheduled game of the Fuller Shirt Company vs. the Ulster County Bank was called off until the new pins arrive, as the old ones were unsatisfactory.

Last Night's Fights.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York: Luis Firpo, Argentine Republic, knocked out Bill Brennan, Chicago, twelfth round; Young Bob Fitzsimmons, Newark, got the decision over Charley McKenna, New York, twelve rounds; Joe Skinner, Phoenix, Ariz., got decision over Jack Tilyou, New York, four rounds.

Staten Island: Jay Lannahan stopped Frankie Fleming, third round.

Detroit: Gene Larue knocked out Kid Fredericks of Allentown in the sixth round.

Baltimore: Kid Williams of Baltimore won decision over Sammy Sandow, Cincinnati, twelve rounds.

Columbus, Ohio: Pete Zivic, New York, knocked out Harry Cor, Columbus, third round.

Indianapolis: Frankie Jones beat Battling Budd in ten rounds; Freddie Bondie defeated Louie Lavell in three rounds.

First Navigating Instrument.

To the Greek, Anaximander of Miletus, is attributed the invention of the first navigating instrument. The following account is given: "Mariners had observed that the farther north they went the higher the polar star rose in the heavens, and Anaximander is reported to have invented an arrangement of two sticks hinged together, so that when one was held horizontally and the other pointed to the pole star the angle they made could indicate how far north the observer was."

Long Span of Three Lives.

William Penn, founder of Pennsylvania, was born October 14, 1644. His youngest son, Thomas, was born March 9, 1702. Thomas Penn had a son, Granville Penn, who was born December 9, 1761, and died September 28, 1844. The lives of these three men in direct descent thus covered— even allowing for the reform of the calendar in 1752—two centuries, lacking less than one month. Commenting on this, historians of the Penn family have expressed the opinion that the incident is probably unique.

The Aurora Borealis.

Until electricity was discovered, the cause of the aurora borealis was unknown, and it was supposed to be of supernatural origin. Even today its exact composition or source is more or less of a mystery, but it is generally supposed that it is caused by the decomposition of positive and negative electricity. It exists only in the regions of the poles, although its light is seen to a moderate degree over the greater part of the earth.

LIBERTY ONE OF THE BRIGHT SPOTS

The new Liberty Cavalier roadster in beige brown will be one of the bright lights of the auto show, beginning at the armory Thursday. Messrs Southard and Reichert, local Liberty dealers, are receiving many complimentary remarks on the excellent workmanship that is so noticeable in this model of the popular Liberty line.

Liberty literature says:
There is a saying among Liberty owners that "only in the Liberty can you get Liberty performance."
That is a fact. There is only one Liberty Six motor. It is used in the Liberty car and no other.
No other motor offers the wonderful advantages of triple head construction, the Liberty dry-gas vaporizer and exclusive Liberty manifold. It embodies the Liberty force-feed oiling system, with special oil-pressure regulating system that guarantees an adequate pressure of oil on all bearings, at every speed and every load. All the oil in the motor base is forced through the circulation system once each minute at average driving speeds.
Four big bearings support the crankshaft and four bearings support the camshaft—33 1-3 per cent more bearing surface than is found in average motors.
Eighteen miles in the gallon is a moderate average gasoline consumption. Eight hundred miles to the gallon of oil is a minimum with practically all Liberty owners.
Other parts of the chassis need only to be mentioned to provide the utmost assurance of quality.
The car itself presents evidence of its comfort, its riding and driving ease, graceful appearance, and perfect, smooth mechanism, which leaves ground for nothing but approval and praise.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATERS

"The Prisoner of Zenda." at Kenney's again today and Wednesday. Is one of the season's superplays. The music of Rex Ingram, director of "The Four Horsemen," has given this old Anthony Hope classic of love and intrigue and adventure a new performance on the screen. Lewis Stone gives a flawless performance of the dual role of Rassendyll and King Rudolph. Alice Terry is a most charming and regal Princess Flavia. Robert Edeson is an ideal Colonel Sapt and Stuart Holmes and Ramon Navarro as Black Michael and Rupert of Hentzau are the perfect villains of your imagination. Others who give splendid performances are Barbara La Marr, Malcolm McGregor, Edward Connelly and Lois Lee.

Dustin Farnum in "The Primal Law," a lively western drama and Wilfred Lytell in "The Wolf's Fang," a stirring romance of the northwest, are the double feature offerings at the Opera House tonight. Wednesday and Thursday an all new bill will be presented opening with Viola Dana in "Love in the Dark," a comedy, and Teddy Gerard in "The Cave Girl," the romance and adventures of a primitive girl.

Constance Talmadge in "The Veiled Adventure" is a comedy of thrills at the Auditorium tonight. Also William Desmond in the chapter play "Around the World in 18 Days." Wednesday "The Poverty of Riches." Helen Jerome Eddy and Eileen Percy will go down in history for their portrayals of the sisters in "The Flirt." Booth Tarkington's great American novel, filmed as a Universal-Jewel masterpiece and now showing at the Orpheum. Thursday, Friday and Saturday the attraction is "Marcus Show of 1923," a musical comedy revenue, with a cast of

Changing Planes

Lawrence B. Sperry, well-known aeronautical inventor, has demonstrated at Mitchell Field, Long Island, that it is perfectly feasible to have transcontinental airplanes transfer passengers to smaller planes for landing midway between stops. Sperry equipped his little machine with a three-foot rod mounted on his top wing, and so manipulated his airplane as to hook the rod easily a number of times in the bottom rung of a ladder hanging from the cockpit of a big de Havilland plane piloted by Captain Clyde D. Pinter. U. S. A. Bothmen wore parachutes in case of accident, but the feat was easily accomplished.

Mrs. Beryl Wertz Leeper and her mother, Mrs. Mima Wertz, have been indicted on the charge of slaying the father and husband, Roy Wertz, of Iowa City, Iowa. Mrs. Wertz is free on $25,000 bail. Mrs. Leeper and her husband, Roy Leeper, are now seeking to gain her freedom on a writ of habeas corpus.

A NEW CAR

For a couple of dollars, you can buy a can of colored auto enamel and a brush and make the old boat look like a thousand dollars.

Do not forget that it is only a few weeks to trout fishing and you will want to go looking like a million dollars.

DO IT NOW

We have ten different colors to select from.
